To those who hunt birds or animals with traps:

When using traps to capture birds or animals in the mountains or elsewhere, you need a permit and registration.

Capturing birds or animals without a permit or registration is prohibited by law and subject to penalties.

There are specific regulations regarding the birds and animals that can be captured, as well as the time and location.

For more information, please contact your local government office.

If you use traps without following the rules, you might cause harm and distress to people around you.

Please follow the rules so that everyone's safety is not compromised.
